EX-GOV. FAIRCHILD.A DISTINGUISHED SOLDIER AND CIVILIAN.

Spends a Day in Memphis, and is Honored by the Grand Army of the Republic.

Ex-Governor Lucius W. Fairchild, Commander in Chief of the Grand Army of the Republic, arrived in the city yesterday, accompanied by his wife. His stay was made the occasion of a very pleasant reunion by old comrades, who gathered around him at the Peabody Hotel and talked over old times. From 12 to 2 o'clock in the afternoon, the Peabody Hotel, there was a constant stream of Grand Army men calling on the veteran commander, and he seemed quite pleased by the hearty and spontaneous greetings tendered him. At 2 o'clock p.m., accompanied by his wife and Miss Fairchild, he was escorted by a committee, who had carriages in readiness, he made a tour of various points of interest in the city, stopping at the Cotton Exchange and the Market Street School. Over an hour was spent in witnessing the various exercises in the classrooms, and the Governor and Mrs. Fairchild declared themselves as amazed at what they saw. They were emphatic in their assertion that in point of proficiency and the pupils of the Memphis public schools were not outshined by those of the best schools in Wisconsin. They were especially struck by the familiar knowledge exhibited even by the pupils in the minor grades of the geography of Tennessee and Shelby county, and their natural and artificial resources. This was a feature that they declared to be new to them, and one in which they were satisfied the children of Wisconsin were deficient. Mrs. Fairchild declared her children to be proud of their own children to the test on this point as soon as she returned to her home. After leaving the school, the party drove around the city, viewing points of special interest and beauty, and at 4 o'clock p.m. the Governor and his wife, accompanied by their son, left for Little Rock, Ark., regretting that they were unable to prolong their stay here.

At Little Rock the members of the Grand Army of the Republic have made extensive preparations to receive the Governor and his family. On Thursday night, and concluded the details. Outside of the Grand Army people he will receive a cordial welcome, especially by the many people resident there who were formerly citizens of Wisconsin. A number of points of view will enter into the reception.

Mrs. Bowers as "Mary Stuart"

The audience attending the theater last night was large and fashionable, and enjoyed the pleasing interpretation of Mary Stuart, as given by Mrs. Bowers and dramatic company. The play in which Mrs. Bowers appears is known as the Falconer company. It is quite a romantic and interesting drama, combining the escape from Lochleven castle, the meeting of the Queen at Potheringy and ending with Mary's execution. The cast here was attractively and carefully presented by the people in the cast, and the strong scenes were finely portrayed. Mrs. Bowers was called before the curtain several times to respond to well deserved applause. At the main entrance of the theater, the secret will be given by a strong cast, and the engagement will close. No performance tonight.

W. J. Scanlan.

On next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights and at the Saturday matinee Mr. Scanlan and company will present Shane-na-Lawn at the Memphis Theater, and on Thursday and Friday nights The Irish Minstrel. The sale of seats for the engagements will open at Mulford's this morning.

PERSONAL.

M. T. Skiff, business manager of the W. J. Scanlan Company, is in the city.

W. L. Cameron has gone to Galveston, Tex., to visit his sister, Mrs. T. J. Rembert, who is lying very ill at her home in that city.

FRANK G. Dixon has been appointed Deputy Receiver of Collectors for the Fifth District by Collector John T. Hillman, whose resignation was received some time ago. Mr. Dixon has been acting as special deputy for a period, and he will become the regular deputy on the 15th instant. The office meantime will remain at No. 19 Madison street, as heretofore.

AMELIA W., the beloved wife of Mr. Lewis W. Cherry, secretary of the Crystal Ice Company, and daughter of the late Gen. Joseph R. Williams, of this city, died at the residence of her mother, Mrs. Jane T. Williams, in Little Rock, Tuesday, December 7th, after a long illness, in the 23rd year of her life, and was buried yesterday in Elmwood Cemetery in the presence of a large concourse of friends.

We learn from the New York papers of the 7th instant of the death of her father, the late Gen. Joseph R. Williams, for many years prior to 1885 a resident of this city. The Tribune says that he had been in ill health for some time. Typhoid malarial fever, and although he had safely passed the crisis his system was overtaxed and exhausted to stand the strain. Mr. Williams was born in Philadelphia in 1835. His father, William Williams, was a prominent merchant. After completing his education in the Baltimore School of West Chester, Pa., in 1857, Mr. Williams went to Rome, and began his business life as a drug merchant in Philadelphia. In 1858 he went to Memphis, Tenn., and engaged in the drug business with Dr. Wareing, of that city. A few years later he came to this city and entered the General Geological Survey, in 1860. In 1860 he accepted of the rectorship of St. Ambrose. Under discouraging circumstances he succeeded in freeing the church from a mortgage and building up a large congregation. In doing this he worked without salary, besides spending the greater part of his private fortune. He leaves a widow, the daughter of Judge J. Lawrence Smith, of Long Island, and a grandchild.

RUINED BY BASEBALL.A GRAIN COMMISSIONER PER-CHANCE'S FALL.

J. B. McElveen Expelled From the Merchants' Exchange for Unmercantile Conduct.

Memphis, Tenn., December 9, 1886.

To Whom It May Concern:

At a regular meeting of the Board of Directors held today, certain charges were referred against J. B. McElveen, charging him with unmercantile conduct unbecoming a gentleman. All of which being sustained, the board ordered his expulsion from the exchange.

This is, therefore, to give notice that J. B. McElveen is no longer a member of the Exchange, he having been expelled as above stated. By order of the Board of Directors.

E. A. KERRIN, Secretary.

The transaction that led to this expulsion was a consignment of grain from a house in St. Joseph, Mo., which McElveen sold for the consignee's account. It is alleged that he got about 35 cents for the corn and returned sales at 31 cents, retaining 5 cents a bushel. He also deducted unusual charges, and altogether soaped in about $8.00 on the transaction above his legitimate commission. The St. Joseph agent, who afterwards promptly returned a return made to him, and threatened to investigate, to which response was made, "Go to had with your investigation." The matter was called to the attention of R. S. Taylor, Esq., and by them referred to the merchants, who after a fair and impartial investigation declared the charges against Mr. McElveen sustained, and expelled him as above announced.

Mr. McElveen has had a pyrotechnical career here. He came from Atlanta at two years ago, opened an office in the Cotton Exchange building as soon as it was ready for occupation, and out of a high figure among the boys. In baseball circles he was a conspicuous figure, and bet his money with princely recklessness. When the Nashville Baseball Club played here he backed them heavily, and he was the man referred to in the Appeal at the time, who seemed stoned in a multitude, rejoicing at Nashville's victories. He occupied a prominent place on the grand stand, and when a Nashville man made a hit or the Nashville boys struck a man out, Mr. McElveen would clap his hands and cheer in harmony with the Nashville delirium who witnessed the game. In fact, his enthusiasm for the victors became so exaggeratedly frantic as to inspire the disgust of all who were near enough to suffer the infection. After the Nashville Club left, McElveen continued to plunk his cheeks upon their winning, but when they came to the grand stand, while the baseball bug of McElveen was trailing in the dust, McElveen's finances were threatened with a bust. His passion for baseball, however, was not his only weakness. Other forms of dissipation attacked him, and he fell into every evil habit. In the confidence of a charming woman who became his wife last spring did not seem effective in saving him from evil companionship. And so he fell, as all must who bet on the wrong club at baseball.

ON 'CHANGE.

TAXING DISTRICT 4-9s are now at par, 101-4-0.

COTTON receipts yesterday, 3191 bales; sales, 2000 bales.

MANCHESTER cloths firm, fair demand. Yarns firm, but little doing.

The Memphis stock of cotton on hand yesterday amounted to 151,854 bales.

BEARISHNESS and provisions were stronger in the leading markets yesterday.

NEW ORLEANS spots advanced 1-16 all round yesterday, but futures were off.

The Cotton Oil-Trust Company has opened in Madison street and with Mr. Joe Allen, dealer of Jackson, Tenn., in charge.

The week's cotton sales amounted to 2,850 bales, the exporters taking 12,000 bales and the spinners 10,350 bales. Week's receipts, 27,254 bales.

A TRADING firm from Pittsburgh says: There was a healthier tone to the oil market today. No more failures were reported. Prices advanced, and a feeling prevailed that the market was over. The market opened at 64 1/2, declined to 67 1/2, then rallied and advanced to 69 1/2, but sagged at 1 o'clock this afternoon to 68 1/2.

VICTORS on 'Change yesterday: R. H. Lawrence, Covington, Tenn.; Miss Mabel Rhodes, city; Miss O. A. Parry; John W. Drayton, Covington, Miss.; the Rev. J. A. Craig, Philadelphia; Thomas S. Martin, New York; R. M. Banks, Hernandez, Miss.; R. Field, Shelby county; E. S. Damm, Philadelphia; L. Fairchild, Marlborough, Wis.; P. Y. Slater, Florence, Ala.; John W. Drayton, Covington, Miss.; J. Cunningham, Duck Hill, Miss.; George H. Smith, Duck Hill, Miss.; H. O. Reed, Holly Springs, Miss.; G. F. Thornton, Charleston, Miss.; G. F. McMillen, Clyde, La.; Ben S. Harper, Williamsport, Pa.; J. H. Craighead, Nashville.

The Tennessee Valley Iron and Railroad Company stock had a large sale yesterday at 47 1/2, and it is now offering in small quantities at 50c. Mr. J. C. Neely is president of the company, and John Overton, Jr., secretary. They have 72,000 acres of iron ore land in Wayne county, Tennessee, lands possessing an inexhaustible supply of ore, and of the purest quality, yielding some 50 per cent. of iron. Specimens of the ore are on exhibition at the Cotton Exchange, and have been much admired. The stock is advancing rapidly, and capitalists are ready to buy blocks of it when it is in the market. A contract has been let out to build a branch extension to the Nashville and Chattanooga railroad from Dixon through Box Springs to Florence, Ala., and a trunk line running through the mineral lands of the Tennessee Valley Iron and Railroad Company.

Capt. GEORGE R. WILKINS, No. 919 Spruce street, Philadelphia, Pa., if now on land, will, if you write and inclose a stamp for reply, tell you that "three years ago, while in Central America, he was prostrated with kidney and liver trouble, and for several months he was delirious, a kin very dark liver, and one-third, stomach too sensitive for the simplest food." Seven bottles of Warner's safe cure completely cured him and saved his life.

How the President is said to be cured of his cold.

Since he came to the White House the President has been rapidly gaining flesh, until he now weighs fifty pounds more than he did when he was elected. He does not take any exercise. He drives out for an airing every pleasant afternoon in his comfortable carriage, but the ride doesn't give him any more exercise than if he spent so much time in a rocking chair. He is getting so fat as to be uncomfortable as well as ungainly, and has been in consultation with a doctor and a Swedish massage school. The doctor does not prescribe any drugs, nor does he use the Basting system of dieting. He simply recommends the movement cure, and a package of 84 Coleman's Ko-Ko Tonic every day to insure digestion.

Without Adequate Cause.

Or with apparently no cause at all, chills and fever, thought to be cured, terminated in a fatal result. This is a most common disease cannot be laid out with quinine. The only way to give it a final and lasting cure is to use Mulford's stock. The price of cure is, of course, every pleasant afternoon in his comfortable carriage, but the ride doesn't give him any more exercise than if he spent so much time in a rocking chair.
